

Chapter Spotlight

River Bluff High School is a brand new school in Lexington, SC, having the most members (99) of the 5 high schools in the Lexington 1 district. This is quite the achievement based on the fact that the other 4 high schools have excellent HOSA chapters already, and the school has only been open since August. I am very proud of the HOSA advisors, who are also brand new to teaching, Angie Diaz and Missy Hallman. They are supported by Scott Ganucheau and Bryan Piro who do lend the male support and chaperone role while bringing some HOSA experience with them from their previous high school.

I had the privilege of hearing their officers who are transfers from another high school in the district tell business partners and advisory board members what HOSA is about. They are doing a fantastic job in the promotion of HOSA at River Bluff. The advisors and students at River Bluff are forward thinkers and are aware of the benefits they will receive from participating in HOSA. These students are definitely headed in the right direction to be future health professionals.
