MARCH 7-9
NORTH CHARLESTON

40th

ANNUAL
HOSA STATE
LEADERSHIP
CONFERENCE
Nathaniel Owens
PRESIDENT
Aiken County Career & Technology Center
I would like to become a trauma surgeon and work in an emergency department. But my biggest aspiration is to be as helpful and compassionate as I can in every step of my career.

HOSA has shown me the strength of a group is not determined by their age or experiences, but by the passion in their hearts for what they do and their commitment to what it is they are doing and to each other.

Kelsey Hearing
SECRETARY
Ashley Ridge High School
I joined HOSA as a freshman and have loved every minute since. My involvement in HOSA has given me endless opportunities to grow as a leader and meet members from across the nation with the same values and passions as me. I am grateful to have served and I am proud to say I belong to the best student organization ever.

Arturo Conteras
PARLIAMENTARIAN
Ridge Spring-Monetta High School
After graduating high school, I plan to attend a four-year institution majoring in Biology, Public Health, or Biomedical Engineering. HOSA has not only helped me gain teamwork and leadership experience but has also allowed me to meet people from all over the nation. HOSA has strengthened my drive to reach my goals and plans for the future. I hope one day to be able to give back to the organization that has given me so much.

Kimberly Jones
HISTORIAN/REPORTER
Charleston Southern University/ACCTC
My career aspiration is to finish college and gain my Bachelor's degree in Public Health with a focus in community health. After college, I plan to find a career as a Teen Outreach Coordinator while working on my Master's in Counseling Education. From day one, I have been involved immensely and never regretted a moment. HOSA has been vital to my success and who I am today as a person and student-leader. It has opened numerous doors for my future. If asked, "Would you do it all over again?" my answer would be three times yes and more!

Bio: southern drawl and quick wit, Amy creates an environment where audiences find themselves immediately drawn into her world laughing, reflecting, and leaning the life lessons that she learned (and, sometimes, is still trying to understand!)

Amy knows that her job is more than being humorous. As a skilled storyteller, she uses humor and her real life experiences as an approach to teach participants that optimism and creativity are keys to effective leadership.

Her on stage experiences have been described as “captivating, genuine, and original” as she challenges audiences to change their approach from looking at leadership as “a job” to “an attitude.” Born and raised in Tennessee, Amy is a proud graduate of The University of Tennessee, Knoxville. She received her Master’s Degree from the University Of Georgia. She is the CEO and Creative Director of Four16 Training Solutions, a company that specializes in inspiring keynote messages, interactive leadership workshops, and provides creative curriculum to clients all over the United States. Amy is a proud Army Wife who lives in Nashville, TN where she humors her husband, Jay, with her horrible puns, hoards art supplies, and is in pursuit of her life long goal of trying to make the perfect grilled cheese sandwich.

The simple question of “what do you want to be when you grow up?” takes on a crazy, fast paced ride as Amy Gallimore tries to answer the question for herself. From a man with a stick to a little Star Wars action, this fast-talking southerner engages the audiences with her quick wit and story-telling abilities as she leads you on this humorous quest to live her life to its fullest potential. You will leave motivated, inspired, and with the potential of knowing that you can be anything (and she does mean, ANYTHING!) that you want to be when you grow up!
At the age of 11 years old, Sarah was first exposed to HOSA when she attended the National Leadership Conference in Orlando, Florida. This single conference laid the foundation for her burgeoning desire to serve HOSA members at the international level. Having served as a local and state leader for Florida HOSA, Sarah is looking forward to building lasting relationships with HOSA’s student membership over the next two years! Originally from West Palm Beach, Florida, Sarah is a junior at the University of Florida and is majoring in Public Health. Sarah believes that working with others helps to flourish the overall well-being of communities.

To carry out her belief, she works at the University of Florida Mobile Outreach Clinic to improve the health disparities found in her local campus community. During her free time, Sarah enjoys going to Disney World, exploring new places, and spending time with her friends and family. Through the opportunities, HOSA has provided and her work in the Gainesville community, Sarah aspires to work as a public health physician and create a brighter future for medicine! Sarah is excited to serve as your President-Elect and grow this year with her fellow officers of the 2017-2018 Executive Council as they work to serve HOSA’s members!

Lorie has been involved with HOSA as an advisor for the past 12 years, while serving as a Health Science teacher at Spring Valley High School in Columbia, SC. As a HOSA advisor, Lorie’s lead by example philosophy and commitment to developing each student to be the best he/she can be. Her approach can be best described by a quote from John Quincy Adams “If your actions inspire others to dream more, learn more, do more and become more, you are a leader.” Since Lorie has been at SVHS as a Health Science teacher and Local HOSA Advisor, Spring Valley HOSA has become the largest student organization on campus and has been recognized for making a difference in their school and community. Many students belonging to Spring Valley High School (SVHS) HOSA have served as SC HOSA state officers, been selected as state and national scholarship recipients, as well as received state and national competitive events awards and recognition. Lorie has instilled a sense of community service in her students as evidenced by their volunteerism for raising funds for the HOSA National Service Projects.

SC HOSA appreciates Lorie’s dedication and participation at the leadership level, not only for her student’s at SVHS but also for the SC HOSA board and state leadership conferences. Lorie currently serves as a SC HOSA Board representative and has been the Competitive Events Category Chair for testing.

Lorie has received recognitions and awards such as SC Health Science Educators Outstanding New Teacher, SC ACTE Outstanding New Career and Technical Teacher and SC HSE Outstanding Health Science Teacher in Community service. It’s evident that Lorie’s background as a Medical Technologist has provided her with the tools, the discipline and the professionalism to excel as a teacher and advisor.

According to Lorie, the reward for being a HOSA advisor comes not from recognition or awards, but rather from the joy that she experiences when her students put forth their very best effort into developing their full potential, as well as, seeing those efforts result in the accomplishment of their goals.

Congratulations Lorie for serving as this past year’s Outstanding HOSA Advisor!

What is NAMI?
NAMI is the National Alliance on Mental Illness, the nation’s largest grassroots organization for people with mental illness and their families. Founded in 1979, NAMI has affiliates in every state and in more than 1,100 local communities across the country.

NAMI Mission:
NAMI is dedicated to the eradication of mental illnesses and to the improvement of the quality of life for persons of all ages who are affected by mental illnesses.

We all experience emotional ups and downs from time to time caused by events in our lives. Mental health conditions go beyond these emotional reactions and become something longer lasting. They are medical conditions that cause changes in how we think and feel and in our mood. They are not the result of personal weakness, lack of character or poor upbringing. With proper treatment, people can realize their full potential, cope with the stresses of life, work productively and meaningfully contribute to the world. Without mental health we cannot be fully healthy. Yet, understanding mental health isn’t only about being able to identify symptoms and having a name for these conditions. There is a complicated system involving local communities, the federal government, research institutions, private companies and other pieces that are all trying to fit together. Each piece contributes to our understanding of mental health—if one is missing, the picture isn’t complete.

Biomedical Sciences

Engage Students, One Medical Mystery at a Time

Whether discovering new cancer treatments or teaching healthy lifestyle choices to their communities, today’s biomedical science professionals are tackling big challenges to make the world a better place.

PLTW Biomedical Science students are taking on these same real-world challenges—doing it before they even graduate from high school. Working with the same tools used by professionals in hospitals and labs, students engage in compelling, hands-on activities and work together to find solutions to problems. Students take from the courses in-demand knowledge and skills they will use in high school and for the rest of their lives, on any career path they take.
