

South Carolina Health Science Educators

SC ACTE – HSE Division Annual Conference

November 30-December 2, 2017 in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina

What a great conference this year! Just when we thought last year couldn't be topped, this 2017 conference was fantastic. Free parking, free Wi-Fi and not to mention many conference attendees were able to do some Christmas shopping in the evening as stores stayed open later this time of year. We began our conference on Thursday, December 7, 2017, with registration, warm coffee, muffins, and visits with our exhibitors. Our conference opening keynote speaker, Kim Smith, presented us with some great information on including games with curriculum. Al Squire followed her with a passion filled presentation on setting acceptable behavior standards in our classrooms and when attending events with our students.

r Involved hands Many of the sessions this year involved hands-on activities. Our keynote speakers from Hands on Body Systems and classroom Learning Games kept our teacher’s hands and brains involved in learning new strategies to teach health science curriculum. Also, there were interactive sessions that kept the audience on their toes. The teachers really enjoyed the interaction with the speakers learning technology to take back to the classroom for their students. This flowed on through with some of our very own teachers turning into fantastic presenters sharing classroom strategies and ideas.

Approximately 110 health science teachers enjoyed the networking and professional development opportunities again this year. Fourteen vendors provided their latest curriculum resources in our exhibition area on Thursday and Friday. Upon completion of an online survey, conference participants received an electronic certificate of participation that included contact hours that can be used for certification renewal points.
