2022 National Consortium for Health Science Education Professional Development Conference

INDIVIDUAL REGISTRATION SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION Valued at $575

I. PURPOSE

The purpose of this travel grant application is to enable Health Science high school teachers to apply for an award to receive FREE registration to the NCHSE professional development conference being held this fall October 26-28, 2022, in Charleston, SC. The value of this award is $575.00

Teachers receiving the scholarship award must fulfill a curriculum requirement which incorporates the teaching of health science education. Grantees will be required to submit electronically two activities, projects, or lesson plans by December 31, 2022. In addition, the grantees must submit a course pacing guide from a state approved health science course they teach. The plan will be to support health science teachers and post submissions on the SCDE Health Science Web Page. Failure to submit the requirements will make you ineligible to receive any Health Science or HOSA scholarships for a period of no less than two years.

II. GRANT AWARDS

Up to 25 high school teachers will be awarded free registration $575 each to support attendance to the National Consortium of Health Science Education (NCHSE) 2022 Professional Development Conference. All applications will be reviewed by a selection committee and the selected teachers will be notified.

III. ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

Any high school teacher who currently teaches health science course(s) in a South Carolina high school or career and technology center is eligible to apply for the grant award.

IV. GUIDELINES

The completed application must not exceed three pages, double spaced, with 12-point font.
